THE public are respectfully informed, that the PATENT MEDICINES hitherto in the hands of messrs. MACLEAN & PEYER, will in future be sold by Dr. SAMUEL HAMILTON only, in Lexington, messrs. M. & P. having relinquished the agency in his favor. A fresh supply of the following are received from Lea & Co. Baltimore.

Dr. HAMILTON'S ELIXIR.

To Parents who have Children afflicted with the HOOPING COUGH.

This discovery is of the first magnitude, as it affords immediate relief, checks the progress, and in a short time entirely removes the most cruel disorder to which children are liable. The Elixir is so perfectly agreeable, and the dose so small that no difficulty arises in taking it.

HAMILTON'S WORM-DESTROYING LOZENGES.

Which have within four years past, cured upwards of one hundred and twenty thousand persons, of both sexes, of every age, and in every situation, of various dangerous complaints arising from worms, and from obstructions or looseness in the stomach and bowels.

The above valuable Medicine is sold in boxes containing forty Lozenges, at one Dollar per box.

Dr. HAMILTON'S GENUINE ESSENCE & EXTRACT OF MUSELAD.

A safe and effectual remedy for acute and chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Rheumatic Joint, Palsy, Lumbago, Numbness, White Swellings, Chilblains, Sprains, Bruises, Pain in the face and neck, &c.

THIS valuable remedy is prepared both in a fluid state and in pills, and thus excellently adapted both for external and internal use.

The pills operate mildly by urine, and by insensible perspiration, expelling the superfluous and morbid humors: they are highly cordial to the stomach, create appetite, assist digestion, remove flying pains, and cold or windy complaints in the stomach and bowels.

The essence is a wonderful adjuvant to the pills in rheumatism, gout lumbago and palsy, and by its peculiar penetrating and dissolving quality, removes the most violent pains, bruises, numbness, stiffness of the neck, joints, &c. swelled faces, head ache, indurated breasts, white swellings, from a fluish, &c. and will infallibly prevent the ill effects of wet or damp in the feet.

Some may be surprised that this medicine should be prescribed with equal success in such a variety of cases, but this surprise will cease when it is recollected that all those complaints result from the same cause—a disorder in the lymph or obstructions in the lymphatic vessels.

OBSERVE, that independent of the above Medicines, being celebrated for their efficacy throughout the United States—they are actually cheaper in general and sold at lower prices, than most individuals must pay for the drugs of which they are composed, purchased at retail prices—being prepared on a large scale and in immense quantities, and sold here, without any advance on the Baltimore prices.

WILSON'S GRAMMAR,

Revised and Corrected.

MARRIED.

On Thursday evening last, by the Rev. Mr. Siddickford, WILLIAM HAYS Elg, of Mercer county, to MISS LUCY GARRARD, of Fayette.

On Friday last we published a Gazette Extra, comprising Governor Garrard's address to the speaker of the house of representatives, and the proceedings of the legislature thereon—they will be found in this day's Gazette; as also the letters referred to in the Governor's communication. [The Intendant's proclamation was published in our last.]

Frankfort, November 29, 1802.

SIR,

I do myself the honor to enclose to you copies of two letters, and a copy of a proclamation issued by the Intendant of the Spanish government of Louisiana. They contain information highly interesting to the citizens of the western country, and I pray you to lay them before the house of representatives.

With perfect respect,

I am Sir, your obt. servant,

JAMES GARRARD.
The Honorable, the Speaker of the House of Representatives.

New-Orleans, October 18th, 1802.

JAMES SPEED TO GOVERNOR GARRARD.
By express, I enclose you the proclamation of our Intendant General, which did not issue till this evening. I am sorry that I could not obtain a more perfect translation. This was taken in haste, by our vice consul, Mr. Fullinger. It can require no comment from me. If it does not amount to a declaration of war, with the worst consequences to individuals, none of us here understand it. The people of the Mississippi Territory will immediately feel its effects, and when to their indignation is joined that of our countrymen in the spring, God knows how it may be possible to prevent hostilities. We all hope, however, that you will immediately concert with Mr. Jefferson to prevent the horrible consequences, which we apprehend, and be assured that any measures you may adopt to prevent unnecessary bloodshed, and at the same time preserve the dignity of our country, will be warmly supported by a majority of our countrymen here, and particularly by
Your humble servant.

Farewell.

My greatest fear is, that we shall only kick up a dust for the French.

19th.

Application has been made this morning for permission to land American property—'twas denied—the gentleman was informed that he must either return it to Natchez, or put it on board an American vessel—You know what sort of vessels our flats are.

I am this moment assured that it will be proclaimed in a few days, that no American shall be permitted more than 40 days' residence; and that thereafter no American vessel shall be suffered to enter the Belshaz.

I send you another—perhaps a more correct translation. The heads of departments have been all this day employed in consultation.

New-Orleans, 18th October 1802.

His Excellency

JAMES GARRARD, Esq.

SIR,

Although strangers to you, we deem it unnecessary to make any other apology for addressing you, than the importance of the subject of our letter, interesting to every American, and which we shall give you without any further preface.

The Intendant has this day issued a decree, declaring the port of New-Orleans to be shut, and what has been very unexpected, and we conceive contrary to every principle of rights, that the right of deposit by the Americans shall no longer exist, without granting any other eligible place as an equivalent, stipulated by the 22d article of the treaty between the United States and his Catholic Majesty. The governor of this province, at first shewed every disposition to counteract this measure, but as the publication has been made six hours, without his taking notice of it, we are apprehensive that he has relinquished the intention of opposing it, and in this state of doubt we remain.

With respect, we are

Your Excellency's

Most Obedt. Humble Servts.

KENTUCKY LEGISLATURE.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

WEDNESDAY, December 1, 1802.

The committee of the whole this day took into consideration the governor's communications, as to the shutting the port of New-Orleans against the Americans, and came to two resolutions thereupon, and an address to the general government on that subject, which were unanimously agreed to, as follows:

Resolved unanimously, that the proclamation of the Intendant of the port of New-Orleans, of the 18th of October last, is a direct infraction of the treaty of friendship, limits and navigation, concluded in October 1793, between the United States and the king of Spain in this particular—that by the said proclamation, American citizens are forbidden to deposit their merchandises and effects in the port of New-Orleans, without an equivalent establishment having been assigned to the United States, on another part of the banks of the Mississippi, conformably to the provision of the twenty-second article of the said treaty.

Resolved, That the governor be requested to forward the following memorial to our fellow citizens and representatives in Congress, to be then presented to the president of the United States, the senate and house of representatives of Congress.

To the President of the United States, and the Senate and House of Representatives of Congress,

THE MEMORIAL

Of the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Kentucky.

Having on a former occasion, when we represented the obstructions to the Navigation of the river Mississippi, experienced the attention and justice of the General Government, in providing by a treaty with the court of Spain, not only for the free navigation of that river, but for what, in our remote situation from the ocean was absolutely necessary to the enjoyment of it, a place of deposit for our produce.—We deem it necessary to lay to state to you, that by an infraction of that treaty, we are deprived of these advantages, in violation of the treaty between the United States and the King of Spain, concluded at San Lorenzo el Real, in October 1795. The Intendant of the Port of New-Orleans has by a proclamation of the 18th of October last, forbidden American Citizens to deposit their merchandises and effects in the said Port, without having assigned to the United States an equivalent establishment on another part of the banks of the Mississippi.

We rely with confidence on your wisdom and justice, and pledge ourselves to support, at the expense of our lives and fortunes, such measures as the honor, and interest of the United States may require.

Extract of a letter from New-Orleans to a gentleman in this town, dated 23d Oct. 1802.

"We addressed a few hurried lines to you by an express which left this place a few days ago for the seat of government, informing you of the port being shut, and that the Americans were deprived of the right of deposit here, by a decree of the Intendant of this province; which information, we now fully confirm. This proceeding of the Intendant, must, no doubt, be productive of serious consequences.—The United States will not suffer themselves to be robbed of a right which they enjoyed by virtue of a sacred treaty.—However we must wait with patience to see the result.

"The footing upon which you will hereafter stand with respect to vending or exporting your produce, will be this.—The Western produce of every description will be permitted to enter here by paying the established duties of the place, viz. 6 per cent, at the following valuations.—Flour 4 dollars per barrel, tobacco 40 dollars per hoghead, cotton 18 cents per pound, and other articles in proportion.—The same duties must be paid if exported after being stored. But should produce be forwarded for exportation the duties may still be saved, but it must remain in boats in a place of safety until an opportunity offers of shipping in American vessels, which must lay in the stream. Although they have robbed us of our right of deposit, we will enjoy the free navigation of the river.

"There is now no doubt whatever, but that the French are to possess this country.—This event will in all probability take place in the course of the spring. Mr. Otto, is we learn, to go as Minister to the United States, to settle the terms and other matters relative to the two countries; the result of this business will be very interesting, as we shall then know upon what ground we stand with respect to our commercial prospects."

Extract of a letter from a gentleman at Natchez, to his friend of this place, dated

"Nov. 7th 1802,

"The Intendant General of the province below, has declared the port of New-Orleans shut against American commerce and deposit, he has not assigned any other spot, nor will he for a deposit.

"Lately, I had three cargoes arrived at New-Orleans; one from Philadelphia, one from Liverpool, and another from London. Two of them arrived previous to shutting the port, and were landed—neither of those cargoes were permitted to be shipped me on board an American bottom, but on board a Spanish bottom, and obliged to clear out for some port of their own on this side the line, with orders at my risk, to proceed for this place. This is not mere report, but what has actually happened me, besides subjecting me to duties of 10 per cent.

"American produce can yet land at New-Orleans, by paying a duty of 6 per cent, and 6 more if transported; but it cannot be shipped on board any other than a Spanish bottom after being landed."

Extract of a letter from a gentleman at Natchez, to his correspondent in this place, dated 8th November.

"When we were first advised of the Intendant's having shut the port of New-Orleans, we were greatly convulsed, but by degrees have become more calm—although our situation is no better now—and dreadful at best.

"By letters from New-Orleans of the 29th ult. we are informed, that the port is entirely shut against American produce, and no such thing as a deposit allowable; yet we have the privilege of selling in that market, by paying six per cent duty, which makes our property Spanish—then, if to be transported, it must be done on board Spanish bottoms, and those to sail immediately for some port of Spain. Even boats cannot clear out for this place from New-Orleans, and none can load there but Spanish bottoms, and they clear out for some one Spanish port on the river, with orders to proceed to this place! This, Sir, is the case with goods shipped me very lately.

"Tis to be hoped the general government will take such immediate and proper steps to secure us our natural rights to the peaceable navigation of that river, as will effectually prevent in future, any obstruction by a foreign people.

"I have no doubt but the citizens of the West, will readily co-operate with the President in this wished event.

"It is generally believed, that the province is ceded to France; but for my own part, I cannot help doubting its authenticity. The Chouanin and Gouffin, the Prince of Peace, who was not long since Bishop of New-Orleans, has very lately written his friends in that place, that if it is ceded to France, it is not spoken of at the Court of Spain.

"Produce very low. At auction within these few days, flour of good quality sold at 1 23 per barrel. Cotton at New-Orleans, from 14 to 15—all things dull beyond conception, and no money in circulation."

In the last mail came dispatches from the Secretary of War to Governor Garrard—the contents are not yet known.

COMMUNICATED.

DIED, on the 11th November, at Vincennes, WILLIAM CLARKE Esquire, chief Judge of the Indiana Territory.

The author of these lines, having been acquainted with Mr. Clarke, for several years past, had a better opportunity of knowing the heart and disposition of that gentleman, as well as many incidents and features of his life and character, than most of his transient acquaintances.—The first were kind and hospitable to a high degree; and the progress he made in acquiring the confidence of the Federal Government, is a proof of the satisfaction he gave in the discharge of his duty.

At a period when the government had become somewhat unpopular in this state, by the novelty and oppressive aspect of the excise law, the post of district attorney of the United States for Kentucky, was offered to several gentlemen of the profession, and refused.—It was then tendered to Mr. Clarke, and accepted, from an opinion, which he afterwards communicated to the author hereof, that "there was very little wisdom in refusing to exercise an office under the administration of our country, whose errors we could not reform by mere refusal." He continued to exercise the duties of this office, until the formation of the Indiana Territory, when he succeeded by appointment, to the station of Chief Judge, which he enjoyed till his death.

If Mr. Clarke had enemies in private life, they were not created by the crimes of the heart; if at the bar, it was naturally to be expected upon a theatre where personal rancour is sometimes substituted for the more exalted duties of the forensic profession.

He has left behind him, a wife and children, by whom the loss of his kind domestic protection will be very sensibly felt.

At the Anniversary Dinner of the St. Andrews Society on the 30th ult. the following TOASTS were drank,

1. Prosperity to the St. Andrews Society, and those who celebrate the day throughout the world.
2. The land we live in.
3. The land of cakes.
4. All the benevolent societies throughout the world.
5. Success to the intended institution of an Elberion Society in this place for ameliorating the situation of the distressed brethren.
6. The beggar's benison.
7. Rob Rob's coat of arms.
8. May we have in our arms those we love in our hearts.
9. Universal philanthropy.
10. The fair of Kentucky.
11. A candid interpretation, of the 22d article of the Spanish treaty, or (with regret) an explanation from the mouth of our guns.

TO FARMERS.

From a London Paper.

Robert Bakewell, the most successful and celebrated experimental farmer ever known in England, was born at Dishley, in Leicestershire, about the year 1725 or 6.

His grandfather and father had resided on the same estate since the beginning of the present century; and his father, who died about the year 1760, had always the reputation of being one of the most ingenious and able farmers of his neighbourhood.

Mr. Bakewell having conducted the Dishly farm several years before the decease of his father, began, about forty years since, that course of experiments which has procured him such extensive fame. He made excursions into different parts of England, to inspect the various breeds, and to ascertain those which were best adapted to his purposes, and the most valuable of their kinds. His next step was to select and purchase the best of all the flocks wherever they could be found; and this selection, the result of several years experience, was the original flock from which he propagated his own.

About the year 1760, Mr. Bakewell sold his sheep by private contract, at not more than two or three guineas each. Some time afterwards, he began to let some of his rams, and for a few seasons received only 15s. and a guinea a piece for them; but as the fame of his breed extended itself, he advanced his prices and by the year 1770, was enabled to let some of his rams for the season for twenty-five guineas. Since that time the prices and credit of the flock have been progressively increasing; and of late years, single rams have been let for the season for the enormous prices of four guineas and upwards. It is a fact, which has no former example, that one ram, called the Two-rouxners, produced, in one season, the sum of eight hundred guineas, independent of ewes of Mr. Bakewell's own flock, which at the same rate, would have made a total, the produce of a single ram—of twelve hundred guineas!

The race of Dishley sheep are known by the kneness of their bones and flesh, the lightness of the skull, the disposition to quietness, and consequently to fatten with less food than other breeds of equal weight and value. Mr. Bakewell improved his black horses by an attention to the form which is best adapted for their use. His stallions have been let for the season for one hundred guineas and upwards. About ten years since, he exhibited his famous black horse to the King and many of the Nobility in the court yard at St. James's.

In this place it may be well worth while to infer the following statement of the prices given at an auction of flock, bred from Mr. Bakewell's.

The sale which we advert to was that of Mr. Fowler, of Rolleston, in Oxfordshire. After his death, one article of his live flock, the horned cattle, sold for a value equal to that of the fee simple of his farm! Fifteen head of one of his bulls and cows sold for two thousand four hundred and sixty four pounds, or at the rate of one hundred and sixty four pounds each!

Dr. JENNER.

We are glad to learn, that, in addition to the sum of £10,000 granted by the country, a general subscription is about to be opened for the celebrated Dr. Jenner, who has most indubitably been the happy instrument under Divine Providence, of annihilating that most dreadful of all scourges to the human race, the SMALL-POX. We have no doubt but that the members of the late house of commons, who voted the remuneration, will set an example to individuals, by administering freely to so laudable a purpose; for ample and honorable as such a parliamentary gratuity may at first seem, it is by no means equivalent to the immense trouble and expense sustained by the doctor in making, and spontaneously diffusing, for the benefit of mankind, the knowledge of his invaluable discovery; which, from the most pure and benevolent motives, he has extended even to the remotest and most barbarous of nations, where its blessings are now universally enjoyed and under the most successful attacks of malevolence and envy in the unavailing opposition of interest and disappointment, can have no weight with a discriminating and generous public; too well acquainted with the doctor's intrinsic merit, & unassuming modesty, either to suffer the one to go unrewarded, or the other unacknowledged.

WASHINGTON-CITY, Nov. 24.

Letters are said to be received in town from Greenock, by the Ship Liverpool Packet, to be late a date as the 6th of October, but they furnish no news, excepting that the Emperor of Germany had protested against the plan of indemnities drawn and presented to the states of the empire by the first confederate and the emperor of Russia. On this subject, important only to the parties, a correspondence has taken place between the Russian and French ministers. The particulars of which have not yet come to our knowledge. The packet sailed on the 8th of October. Our London papers by air are to the 28th of September, and Greenock papers three days later. They contain no intelligence particularly interesting.

BY AUTHORITY.

Extract of a letter of the consul of the United States at Lisbon, dated August 22, 1802, to the secretary of state.

"On the 18th instant an order was received at the Custom-house from the minister of the interior, to prohibit altogether the importation of cordage for home consumption."

Extracts from the same to the same, dated 6th September, 1802.

"On Saturday the 4th inst. the enclosed order was issued by the inspector general of the corn market. Not being perfectly satisfied as to the meaning of that relating to the consumption, I sent to request an explanation. I received for answer that the consumption as well as the importation of all foreign flour after the 4th January next was forbidden, and what was then on hand must be exported.

"The vessel by which this goes sailing immediately, allows me only time to inform you that not being perfectly satisfied with the explanation sent me by the administrator of the corn market, I sent again to the judge, who entirely differed in opinion from the former, the latter conceiving it was intended only to prohibit the importation, but the former still insists that the importation and consumption were both intended. I cannot get a final determination till to-morrow."

Translation of the order referred to in the last letter.

"In observance of the Royal orders of the Prince Regent, our Lord, lately expedited to the corn market, for the purpose of prohibiting the introduction into this kingdom of flour fabricated in foreign countries, in consequence of the causes having ceased which made the admission necessary during the time it had free entry into the corn market, for consumption into this city, & other places in the kingdom—And to the end that the royal determination should be duly observed, and that all persons interested in this branch of business should have a full knowledge of the same, that they may govern themselves accordingly; I have ordered the present to be passed with the declarations in conformity to the same royal orders, that the space of four months is allowed for the consumption of the flour existing, as well as for what may arrive, counting from the date hereof. And this shall be fixed up in the customary places. Corn market the 4th September, 1802."

Extra of a letter from Annapolis, Nov. 17, 1802.

"Agreeably to the order of the day a joint ballot of both houses of the legislature has just been taken for a senator to represent the State of Maryland in the senate of the United States after the third of March next, when there appeared 46 votes for Gen. Samuel Smith, and 30 for Gen. Howard.

"The senate gave 11 votes and the house of delegates 65, making in the whole 76 votes."

On this event we have again to congratulate our republican friends. It is but a short time since Maryland had two federal representatives in the senate, which she has now exchanged for two republican.

The legislature of Georgia have elected, by a large majority, John Milledge, governor of that state. We need scarcely add that Mr. Milledge's politics have been uniformly republican. The unfounded reproaches of federalism have only served to render his integrity the brighter.

NORFOLK, November 16.

By a gentleman who came on board in the schooner Nautilus, of Baltimore, 16 days from Port Republic, we learn, that the greatest consternation prevails throughout the Bight of Leone. The negroes have burnt the towns of Leone, Grand Guave, Petit Guave, L'Archaye, and St. Marcs; they have also destroyed fort Biffon; it was expected they would in a few days become masters of Port Republic.—The French troops were very fickle.

SONG.
(From Jacob.)

TELL me where's the violet fled,
Late to gaily blowing,
Springing 'neath fair Flora's tread,
Choiceft sweets belowing?
Swain the vernal scene is o'er;
And the violet blooms no more!

Say where hides the blushing rofe,
Pride of fragrant morning;
Garland meet for beauty's brows;
Hill and dale adorning?
Gentle maid, the summer's fled,
And the hopelefs rofe is dead.

Bear me then to yonder rill,
Late to freely flowing,
Wat'ring many a daffodil,
On its margin glowing.
Sun and wind exhaust its flore;
Yonder riv'let glides no more!

Lead me to the bow'ry shade
Late with rofes flouting;
Lea'd resort of youth and maid,
Am'rous ditty chaunting.
Hail and storm with fury flower;
Leaflets mourn the rilled bower!

Say, where hides the village maid,
Late yon cot adorning,
Of I've met her in the glade,
Fair and fresh as morning?
Swain how short is beauty's bloom!
Seek her in the grafly tomb!

Whither roves the tuneful swain,
Who of rural pleasures,
Rofe and violet, rill and plain,
Sung in daffodil measures?
Maiden, swift life's vision flies,
Death has clod'd the poet's eyes!
